Description

We are the first digital service for the private sector. Our clients are mainly micro and small companies that have little or no online presence, who are looking for business partners and the opportunity to grow. Besides offering them an overview of the market in which we can introduce them and raise competitiveness, we also eliminate barriers between large and small companies and enable direct communication between them. Bizbook has a concept that focuses only on supply and demand among companies, and placing products available on the market. We offer real-time market overview, and we are also a supply chain procurement tool.
